GETTING HERE

International guests will arrive into Buenos Aires (EZE) where a Riverland Outfitters representative will be waiting to escort you to your Domestic flight.

Guests will then fly from Buenos Aires to Santa Fe (SFN) or Parana (PRA). From the domestic airport, guests will be shuttled to our lodge at Estancia Puerto Buey.

For those travelers who want a more direct route, Puerto Buey also has a fully equipped private landing strip that can be used for small chartered planes.

At Riverland, we are happy to arrange this as part of your experience. Please inquire about our private plane charter services.

ESTANCIA PUERTO BUEY

Estancia Puerto Buey is located in Entre Rios Province, situated on the banks of the Parana River. Surrounded by acres of farm land, our premier family style lodge offers a variety of mixed bag packages including dorado fishing, wing shooting and big game hunting.

Our lodge has four double occupancy rooms, with large living quarters and a wraparound porch to take in the views of the Parana River. Our lodge is equipped with a steam room, dry sauna, and swimming pool for relaxing after a day's hunt.

The Estancia is surrounded by over 38,000 acres of agricultural farms, flanked by the steep banks of the majestic Parana River, the second largest river in South America behind the Amazon. The farm is relatively flat with gullies sloping towards the river; it is in these gullies that the birds roost.

Throughout the year, on our farm, we strategically plant sunflower, wheat, soybeans and corn to provide the birds with consistent food sources. Some areas of sunflowers remain un-harvested to ensure the birds remain in the fields year-round.

Our lodge's central location on the Estancia ensures drive times to hunts are no more than 15 minutes. Fishing excursions start with just a 40-yard walk down to the river where your guide and boat will be waiting.

Guests can also choose to include a round of golf. Riverland owns and operates the Province's first golf course, the second oldest in the country. This 9-hole course is a great way to relax and alternate between your daily hunting and fishing activities.
